Sims Statements Do Not Excite British

When America Entered War She Came in Whole Heartedly, Especially the Navy
(By United Press)

London, Jan. 19—Early newspaper comments on dispatches from Washington reporting the testimony of Admiral Sims before the senate naval affairs committee was not inclined to give the affair undue significance.

The admiral's statement that he was not to let the British "pull the wool over his eyes" and that "we would as soon fight the British as the Germans" was not interpreted as cause for alarm.

The comment, some newspapers said, was natural enough in view of certain anti-British sentiment which existed in the United States at the time it was given.

It was pointed out that when America entered the war, she came whole heartedly to aid Great Britain.

The American navy particularly in the opinion of the newspapers, placed itself unwaveringly under the control of the British command and it "wonderfully and unforgettable served. We'll let every American thank God it was the Germans they fought, and still let them think they won the war," the Evening Telegram said.

Clemenceau Will Head Supreme Council

Until Adriatic and Other Pressing Problems are Settled
(By United Press)

Paris, Jan. 19—Clemenceau, retired French premier, will continue as president of the supreme council until the Adriatic and other pressing problems have been settled it was believed today. Contrary to expectations he has not resigned yet as head of the council. The Jugo-Slav delegates have not received a reply from Belgrade on the tentative solution for disposition of Flume, advanced by the council.

The supreme council at the meeting today will take up the Russian situation. Marshal Foch and Admiral Beatty, first sea lord of the British admiralty, attended the council meeting. The Georgian delegation representing the anti-bolshevik faction in southern Russia, demanded help against the soviet armies, but the council did not arrive at any decision.

Dope Worth Half Million Stolen

Standard Medical Company of Minneapolis Broken Into and Morphine, Cocaine and Heroin Taken
(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Jan. 19—Five men broke into the plant of the Standard Medical company at 4 o'clock this morning and escaped with cocaine and morphine and heroin estimated to be worth $500,000.

They bound the night watchman and carried the loot away in four sacks. Alfred Hanson, night watchman, said a masked man smashed a glass in the front door about 4 o'clock and stuck an automatic pistol thru and covered him. The other four went to the back of the plant returning in about twenty minutes carrying four sacks. About four hours later he was able to free himself and called the police.

Investigation showed practically all of the cocaine, morphine and heroin stored in the plant was gone. The quantity had not been checked up early today but it was estimated to be valued at more than a million.

The Standard Medical Co. is one of the largest wholesale drug concerns in the northwest. Police were notified throughout the northwest.

Agree to Disagree on Treaty Compromise

Expected that Efforts to Compromise Treaty Reservations Will Result in Failure
L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 19—The present week is expected to show whether a compromise can be arranged on the peace treaty through a medium of bipartisan conference now going on. If this method fails other compromise attempt will be made but failure of the present effort would be exceedingly discouraging to senators said today.

Should a compromise fail to be arranged, it will prove democrats will not yield on Article X, or the Monroe doctrine, it is believed, but for the present Lodge declares he will be reluctant to have anything to do with any other proposal for bringing together the disagreeing groups.

It is expected that discussions now going on will result during the week in an "agreement to disagree" which will show, democrats say, that the democrats are standing firm against any repudiation of America's obligation under the league of nations, and that Lodge's group of republicans are firm for the Lodge reservations.

Hitchcock Seeking Party Advantage

Washington, Jan. 19—Senator Hitchcock today stirred up a storm in the senate by putting into the record figures on the intercollegiate rolls of the peace treaty.

Senator Hitchcock's figures showed he said, that of the 158,000 votes cast by students and the faculty, 100,000 favored either unqualified ratification or interpretative reservations, while only 27,000 favored Senator Lodge's reservations. Senator McCormick of Illinois asserted the voting among the collegiates was a "shepherded vote."

He said speakers to the collegiates spoke in favor of the treaty while the other side of the question was not presented. Soon the senate was in a turmoil. Senator Lodge finally made himself heard and said Hitchcock was trying to claim for the democrats all of the credit for compromise efforts.

Adoption Certain, Thinks Bryan
Washington, Jan. 19—Adoption of the peace treaty by the senate is certain on a compromise basis, Wm. J. Bryan stated today.

Mr. Bryan dropped in at the second Pan-American financial conference to meet Latin-American statesmen with whom he had negotiated treaties while secretary of state.

There is no doubt what is going to be done with the treaty. American people want speed and not phraseology. There is bound to be a compromise, he asserted.

Deported Reds Reach Russia

Emma Goldman Sent Her Love to all Americans, Friends and Enemies Alike, She Said

By CARL D. GROAT
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Hango, Finland, Jan. 19—The 249 radicals deported from the United States, reached Viborg, the last station before they cross the Russian border, at 2 P. M. Sunday. They left Hango on a special train guarded by fifty Finnish white guards and American immigration authorities at 5:30 P. M. Saturday. Miss Olga Erickson, who is attached to the American commission office at Helsinki, accompanied the party.

The Reds were to be escorted to the Finnish Russian border at the bridge at Terjoki. Finnish authorities have assured the Americans they will be a cessation of hostilities by their forces and soviet troops while the radicals are crossing the bridge into Russia.

The Russian soviet government has assured the Americans that their troops will not molest the Reds as they enter Russia. The party was expected to cross the border either late Sunday or early today. Their ultimate destination is Petrograd.

When the train carrying the Reds out of Hango pulled out, they seemed unusually sober.

"I started for Russia with mingled emotion," Emma Goldman said just before the train started, "but of course I want to see all that is ahead but I left much that is dear behind. I send my regards and love to all in America, both enemies and friends."

Several of the radicals packages showed there had been some instances of pilfering of property from the Buford which carried the party from New York to Hango. Every member of the party was provided with five days' army rations.

Disabled Transport Being Towed In

Boston, Mass., Jan. 19—The American transport Powhatan which was disabled about five hundred miles east of New York with 271 passengers aboard, is being towed to Halifax, by the White Star Line steamer Cedric according to a wireless message received at Charlestown naval yards early today. The message said that the ship was not in immediate danger.

Transfer Passengers

Boston, Mass., Jan. 19—A wireless report at the navy yard here this afternoon said the White Star Line steamer Cedric and the steamer Bradley are standing by the Powhatan. The Cedric is awaiting an opportunity to transfer all of the Powhatan's 271 passengers, the latest message said. Water in the vessel extinguished fire and the passengers are suffering from lack of heat, the message stated.

American Republic Model for World

Wrote President Wilson in a Letter to the Pan-American Financial Conference

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 19—"American republics must be held up as a model for the world development in social and political ideals," President Wilson today told delegates to the second Pan-American financial conference in a personal letter of welcome which was read at the opening session.

"I rejoice with you that in these developments, that of world reconstruction, the republics of the American continent should seek our service, not by might, but it is to serve to the utmost of our capacity," the letter said.

"The great privileges that have been showered upon us both by our important geographical position and our high political and social ideals, have determined the national development of all American republics," the president said, "carrying with them obligations the fulfillment of which must be regarded as a privilege by every true American," he said.

Mrs. Geo. F. Murphy has returned from the cities, where she has been buying goods for "The Store of Quality."

It requires considerable nerve to sell clothing at a discount in the face of rapidly advancing prices, but that is exactly what Oberst is doing at the present, but for a limited time only.

Are you a lonesome citizen or are you a neighborly citizen?

Are you and yours getting a square deal in your district?

Are the pavements, the street cars, the gutters clean and giving good service?

Are the prices you pay for meat, potatoes, milk and bread, in your opinion, fair and right?

Is the school furnishing your child a good education in return for your taxes?

Is the landlord protecting on your rent?

These, according to the councils, are a few of the important matters of everyday city living which should have a satisfactory answer if a man is to remain a satisfied citizen in his community. To get a satisfactory answer he must be a member of his local council. "In these times," says a circular explaining the organization, "the community council is a ray of hope. It is nonpolitical, nonsectarian neighborhood organization of the people—the voice of the neighborhood."

Parenthetically, it may be added that a large part of the voice is feminine, thousands of housewives being enrolled in the various locals.—Exchange.

POWER PLANT IMPROVEMENTS

Water Power Co. of Little Falls to Build Large New Power House on West Wing of Dam

NEW LINES ARE COMPLETED

Connect With Cuyuna Range Power Co., One Assisting Other in Case of Breakdowns

(Little Falls Transcript)

Work will be started within the next 30 days on the new power house which is to be built on the west wing of the dam, according to a statement made by L. P. Runkel of the Water Power company. A temporary structure is at present being used for the water wheels which will be used in the permanent building to be placed at the same place.

About one half of the foundation for the new building has already been built. The work of completing this foundation will be taken up first. When completed the new power house will have a water wheel horse power capacity of 7000. A 1500 horse wheel, the same as the one already installed, has been ordered and will be shipped from the factory this week. In addition to these two wheels two more of 2000 horse each will be installed.

The building to be put up will be about three times as large as the present structure. It will be built of concrete and brick. The plans for the building are being prepared and will arrive within a few days.

On December 20 the line connecting the systems of the Little Falls Water Power company and the Cuyuna Range Power company between Motley and Staples was completed and power is interchangeable between the two systems in an emergency. Not long ago the local company line broke at Bertha and Wadena was lighted for a short time by power from the Cuyuna range because of the line from Motley to Staples.

A line is being constructed to this city down the river on the West side which, when completed, will be the main line from this station to the range when power is needed. Under the present arrangement the local company sends juice to the northern system in a round about way through Staples.

REALISTIC FEUDAL BATTLE

Fought by Moonshiners—Illegal Distillers and Revenue Agents Engage in Gun Fight

The feudist battles of the south are faithfully reproduced in the big special picture, "In Old Kentucky," which features Anita Stewart, and which will be shown at the New Park theatre Jan. 21 and 22. It is being released by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

The story goes back to the old days of the moonshiners battles with the revenue agents, the mountaineers not being able to understand why they were not permitted to make their own whiskey, and so defied the law continually.

Then, when the government agents get on their trail, the mountaineers banded together and fought to the death. One of these terrific battles is shown in this picture.

It is fought in the mountain district in the old feudal style, men hiding behind rocks and bushes, firing whenever they saw a head exposed, or suspected that someone was lurking. Naturally no bullets were used when men fired point blank at each other, but they were used on occasion and the chips from rocks are seen flying where the bullets strike just above the men's heads.

Men are seen, apparently hit, tumbling down the ravines, into creeks, and falling on all sides. Desperate chances were taken by the players and the whole battle is made so realistic in the picture, that it appears just as real as one of the actual mountaineer fights.

IN FASHION LAND

Finely plaited ruffles are extremely smart.

Black velvet is used for many trim frocks.

Vests with neckbands are worn with turbans.

No material is more popular than devore.

Metal buckles appear on many winter suits.

Bright red is a favorite color for evening gowns.

Dainty blouses have little aprons, front and back.

Every airy little dress has to have its touch of lace.

Shiny black satin ribbon is much used as binding.

Mole waistcoats are excellent with brown velours suits.

Leather is used in hats for stormy weather or sports wear.

Some of the finest suits are intended to be worn without any furs whatever.

Black frocks are worn merely as backgrounds for brilliant brocade vests or girdles.

Many of the smart evening gowns use as trimming large wreaths of flowers and foliage.

A Fad.

Leather trimming has risen to the first rank in popularity. It is handled in the most unusual ways and the result is charming. Sometimes it is a narrow strip of belt colored in a daring contrast to a gown. Again it is used as satin or velvet would be for outside facing on cuffs, collars and pockets. The most novel way of using leather is to make it up into felt-chapeaux. Smart models in dark blue, black and steel gray leather are being shown.

CATARHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarhal, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarhal Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarhal Medicine. Circulars free. Ansgarius, Inc., F. J. Cheney & Co.

5000 Records to Choose From

ONCE upon a time there was a business man who tried to do business this way:

He said to a buyer of his wares:

"My doors are open for business. If you don't want to bring your orders to me you can go to some other place."

He Died Broke!

Another business man said this:

"Business is like a wheelbarrow. You have to push it to make it go."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

ARE YOU DOING YOUR SHARE?

Brainerd insists on having at least 10,000 people in the census, and a complete count will give this.

There is no criticism of the enumerators in Brainerd but they need help and co-operation to get a full census.

At the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce this Monday evening, the various census takers of the city with their books have been asked to be present, so they can list and check up names of people reported missed.

Let it be understood that nobody is presuming to dictate regarding the census, the whole movement in Brainerd like in other cities is to get the enumerators in a full count and to see that nobody is missed.

As far as known, these are the enumerators and their territory in Brainerd:

Andrew E. Ellingshoe, first ward, Kathleen Early and Mrs. E. H. Brooks, second ward.

Alice D. Smith, Ash Avenue and north, Mill district.

New appointee presumably for District No. 120, south of Ash Avenue, N. E. Brainerd.

Gladys Bisiar, Southeast Brainerd, Bertha T. Mahlum, fifth ward.

The directory of Brainerd, compiled by John H. Ley in October 1918, experienced in census work and who double checks all his work, gave Brainerd a total of 4,228 names of persons above the age of 10 years, and using the multiple of 2 1/2, as on all previous issues, gives Brainerd a population of 10,500.

That was about two years ago and Brainerd at the present time has no vacant flats, houses, boarding houses, hotels, etc., and should really poll a census of over 10,000 at least.

SUGAR REFINERS ESTABLISH PRICES

Brainerd will probably have to pay

17 1/2 cents per pound for its granulated sugar, refined from the new crop, the price of 14 1/2 cents a pound to the wholesale and manufacturing trade being established by the American Refining company, the company making the announcement last Monday night.

When the refining price was fixed at 9 cents by the sugar equalization board, it allowed a profit of one-half cent a pound to wholesalers and one cent to retailers, making the retail price 10 1/2 cents. Allowing middlemen an additional profit of one cent a pound, making their margin 2 1/2 cents because of the higher basic ton's newest superfeature, "A House price and increased overhead expenses, the price to the consumer would be 17 1/2 cents a pound, or considerably less than the prevailing retail price.

The statement of the reigning company disclosed that it is declining all export business until sugar conditions in this country become easier and that in 1919 it delivered more sugar to the domestic trade than in several years.

At the New Park Today

The novel, "The Substance of His House," from which J. Stuart Black-

Divided," which comes to the New Park theatre today, has been adapted was written by Ruth Holt Boucicault, author of many popular romances, and dedicated by her to Margaret Mayo, the playwright. The book was copyrighted and first printed in 1914. It proved such an immediate success that second and third editions were issued within the month of original publication.

Does Life Insurance Carry You?

That's the way to put it.

There used to be an old question asked of men by their fellows and by life insurance solicitors---"Do you carry life insurance?" But that question is out of date.

Nobody carries life insurance; the thing is an impossibility, for life insurance won't be in the position of being carried. It is no burden on any man's back. It is an automotive vehicle that carries everybody who invests in it. But let's not juggle with words---what do we mean when we say that life insurance "carries" the man who buys it?

To begin with, there is something that every decent man feels with regard to the future of wife and children that is actually a load on his mind and on his heart,—a load that cripples his efficiency in other things; that either makes him reckless in his expenditures, because he sees no way of meeting adequately this problem of the future welfare of his family, or that makes him miserly and unhappy for the same reason. This load, life insurance assumes and carries in such a way as to absolutely relieve the man of his burden. It starts him out every day care free in reference to future obligations in case of his sudden death or serious illness.

Again, life insurance carries you into a first-rate habit which is hard, otherwise, to form, viz., a habit of systematic saving.

"Yes, but," you say, "a man must carry life insurance before it can carry him." This might be true if there were not so many additional things which are intensely personal, in which life insurance actually carries the individual who invests in it. For instance, a life insurance policy carries you to the door of the bank and gives you a welcome with the President when you ask him for a business loan, and you would find, if you could explore the back of his mind, that that life insurance policy had carried you very much farther into his good grace concerning that financial transaction than you could have imagined.

Again, life insurance carries you into the position of a sizable estate just as soon as the first premium is paid. This is a good big argument in favor of the man who invests.

Again, in almost every man's life there comes a time when he actually needs to be picked up and carried for a while. Something serious has happened, a big doctor's bill or an unfortunate business experience, or something of the sort, has bowled him over. At that time a life insurance policy comes along and actually puts him on his feet and starts him all over again. This, of course, is due to the loan value which life insurance policies always have after the first two years of life.

Again, although a life insurance policy hasn't as many lives as a cat, yet it has been frequently found to be alive when the man who had previously invested in it thought it had died for lack of premium payments. In the modern life insurance policy there is a provision which starts a reserve fund working after the premium fund has failed and if a man dies within a certain length of time his heirs will discover that that policy, although apparently surrendered has full vitality,---that is to say is payable in full to his beneficiaries.

There are many other instances in which it can be easily shown that a life insurance policy, under all circumstances, carries a man who invests in it. So it is no longer accurate to say that you carry life insurance any more than you say you carry a United States Liberty Bond, in which you have invested and which can at any time be turned into cash.

Let Us Ask You Very Seriously

Have you given life insurance the opportunity to take you along the road of success in life, releasing your energies, your time, your thought for work, and for enjoyments which would be impossible if life insurance did not carry for you the big liabilities to which we have referred.

If life insurance does not carry you, just hail the first life insurance salesman you can think of just as you would call up a taxi in order to be carried from one place to another---won't you call this man up and tell him that you want a quick trip from uncertainty to insurance; you want to have a big load taken off your mind concerning the future of your wife and children, and in short that you want to have life insurance carry you and your family safely, smoothly, to the place of financial security that will be at once economical and will give you a sense of welfare quite inexpressible.

MEETING TO ASSIST CENSUS THIS EVENING

All Interested in Aiding Brainerd to Secure Honest Rating Meet at Chamber Rooms

THE TAKERS URGED TO ATTEND

Assurances of Public Support Given—Press Takes Active Interest—Time is Short

Attention is called to the special meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tonight for the purpose of assisting the local takers of the census and it is hoped that representatives from every ward in the city will attend.

Those to whom has been delegated the work of counting noses in Brainerd are urged to be present and to give their views and suggestions as to just how the public can assist them. There are a number of people away from the city for the winter and it is vitally important that their names be counted as well as those of every resident in the city.

Time is Short

But three more days remain to complete this work. Brainerd numbers over 10,000 persons by considerable, in the opinion of conservative men and based on the fact that few if any vacant houses can be found in the city, while nearly every business block is filled with flats, rooms and apartments are at a premium.

If this is the case, it is evident that the population here must be nearer 12,000 than that indicated by the last census and it is up to every citizen who is interested in seeing his home town obtain a square deal when the enumeration is over, to do all he can to aid the takers of the census. Names of those who have not been taken thus far can be turned in at the Chamber and will be handed to the takers.

DO IT NOW!

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Brainerd Boosters Accompany Locals to Little Falls on Saturday

(Contributed)

Brainerdites believe that Little Falls will have to work to produce as many rooters at their game here as Brainerd displayed in Little Falls. Approximately sixty boosters accompanied the basket ball teams to that city and witnessed as cheerfully as possible their defeats.

We have an idea that the Little Falls team harbored a secret idea that they would literally "walk away with Brainerd." Perhaps a few Brainerdites shared in that same opinion. Nevertheless the boys played up to their opponents, who were as a whole their superiors in height and weight, and gave them a hard fight for their conquests. The game between the second teams ended 12 to 9 in Little Falls' favor and the one between the two first teams 28 to 24 also in their favor. The scores ran close up to the end of both games when Little Falls sprinted ahead to victory. The Brainerd teams were well satisfied with the treatment they received at the hands of Little Falls both in basket ball and socially.

The dance given in the spacious auditorium of the high school and chaperoned very respectfully by the faculty, raised the somewhat dampened spirits of the Brainerd rooters to the point of effervescence. While they waltzed and fox-trotted to the melody of a perfect three-piece orchestra, can anyone blame them for entertaining, in fancy, faint hopes and dreams of a day when Brainerd might return Little Falls' favor in kind?

D. D. Schrader Represented Crow Wing County as 4 Minute Speaker at Real Estate

DEALER'S ANNUAL CONVENTION

Twenty-eight Counties Represented—Large Audience Heard Merits of Each Pictured

Crow Wing county received valuable advertising Thursday when D. D. Schrader represented the county as a "4 Minute" speaker at the convention of real estate dealers in St. Paul and pictured the merits of Crow Wing county in glowing language.

Three big trophy cups for first, second and third prizes, will be awarded as soon as the judges can decide upon the winners.

Mr. Schrader was just rounding up into a grand finish with these words: "God created the heavens in all their glory and majesty, the earth with its inhabitants and the sea with its fishes. God created Crow Wing county and he created a daisy—when "Bing!" went the bell which shut off talk at the close of four minutes and he stopped short with "fishes" and couldn't land the last sentence which was to clinch things for Crow Wing county.

Nevertheless Crow Wing county had its inning, all through the public spirit of Mr. Schrader who was seated on the convention stage with representatives from twenty-eight other counties.

Becker county missed out in the "4 minute" talk, but a farmer from that section arose and boosted 15 minutes for Becker county until all St. Paul became aware that Becker county was on the map.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK UNDER WAY

Birthday of Benjamin Franklin on Saturday Marked the Opening of the Campaign

NATIONAL THRIFT OR BANK DAY

Emphasized on Saturday, National Life Insurance Day to be Observed Monday

Celebrating the 214th anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birthday, business men throughout the United States took part in an eight day economic program for the promotion of national domestic and industrial thrift.

National Thrift Day or Bank Day, which began the movement Saturday, had the support of all the banks of the city, the First National of Brainerd, the Citizens State and the Brainerd State banks, the bankers, business men and others in this campaign being under the general direction of D. D. Schrader, chairman of the local and county National Thrift Week Committee.

Emphasis was placed upon the service a bank renders a community. The advantage of having a bank account was fully explained. It gives a man a definite standing in his community; paying by check rather than by cash means greater convenience and greater safety; a surplus in the bank enables one to meet emergencies; a man who keeps a bank account establishes for himself a certain earning power.

The parting injunction was "Get into the habit of building for future needs. Start a bank account and make it a point to increase your surplus every week. The time will come when you will realize fully the importance of having on hand a reserve which you can turn into immediate cash."

National Life Insurance Day. Life insurance men taking charge of National Thrift Week today are emphasizing the value of personal protection as a means of passing the results of thrift to the members of one's family.

The value of life insurance as a phase of thrift has not been generally recognized. D. D. Schrader, chairman of the local committee, said this morning in beginning the program of National Life Insurance Day at Brainerd.

There are many reasons why persons should consider life insurance from the standpoint of thrift.

National Thrift Week has received the endorsement of the National Association of Life Underwriters, Canadian Life Underwriters' Association, the American Life Convention, The American Bankers' Association, League of Building and Loan Associations, the National Federation of Construction Industries, National Association of Real Estate Boards, and the Retail Credit Men's National Association.

OVER-THE-TOP DINNER AT CHAMBER THURSDAY

Plans for Biggest Get-Together Dinner of Winter Being Planned by House and Social Committee

HONOR OF MEMBERSHIP TEAMS

All New Members to be Honor Guests as Well—Good Menu—Program and Speakers Assured

The date for the big "Over-the-Top" dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in honor of the membership campaign teams and new members of the organization, has been set for Thursday, Jan. 22d, at 6:15 P. M. to be followed by a special meeting of the Chamber, at which the report of the Committee on Committees will be heard. This committee met Saturday night and worked until midnight on the membership lists, selecting men they considered qualified for the position of chairmen of the respective committees. These chairmen, if approved by the Chamber, will make up the advisory board for the year 1920.

Plates For 200

Plates will be laid for at least two hundred guests. All members of the organization are invited to be present both old and new, and an interesting program is being planned. The secretary is negotiating with a speaker from out of the city who is well versed in commercial club work, and a practical talk on the objects, functions and possibilities of such an organization will be gone into at length.

Features of Program

Short talks by the captains of the two membership teams, a review of committees and their respective duties by the secretary, vocal numbers by a quartette made up of members of the Chamber and short talks by prominent men of the city will be features of the big dinner.

Members old and new, are urged to come prepared to offer suggestions for the coming year's work, as it is only by united effort and co-operation that the best results can be obtained.

The old House and Social committee, under the direction of Chairman O. A. Peterson, will have charge of the dinner. The menu will be announced later.

A nominal price will be charged each one for the dinner.

The Roman slaves had a slave who stood by the door. Since the latrine was called "janitor," the term "janitor" came to be applied to him. PUBLIC BUILDING BILL IS URGED

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT ESPECIALLY IS CALLING FOR MORE STRUCTURES.

WASTE IN PAYING RENTALS

Buildings of Factory Rather Than Monumental Type Are Wanted—Growth of Parcel Post Has Made Space Situation Serious.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The pressure in congress for a public building bill at this session is increasing. Desirous of keeping down the appropriations to the lowest possible notch, the leaders in both senate and house decreed some weeks ago that no expenditures for the construction of public buildings would be authorized at this time. Many of the representatives and some of the senators are not inclined to accept this decree as final. The post office department is also pleading for a public building bill as a necessity. It appears now that such a bill will be reported to the house, and it will then be for the house organization to say whether it shall receive consideration. Members who are advocating such a bill say they are anxious to save money but that it is not true economy for the government to spend such enormous sums as it is now spending in renting floor space for post office purposes.

More than 1,000 public building bills have been introduced since this session began. They call for a total appropriation of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000, and provide for additional post office quarters in many of the large cities and for post office buildings in many of the smaller cities and towns of the country.

No Omnibus Bill Since 1913. There has been no omnibus bill since March 4, 1913. That bill appropriated a total of $41,797,350. William G. McAdoo, who was then secretary of the treasury, declined to carry out many of the provisions of the bill making appropriations for post office buildings in small cities and towns, and when the war came on such building operations as had been started under the bill were suspended. So there has really been but little building activity affecting the post office department since 1913. The act of 1913 created a public building commission composed of the secretary of the treasury, the postmaster general, the attorney general and four members of congress. That commission was instructed to "present to congress a connected scheme involving only appropriations for the construction and completion of public buildings heretofore authorized, within a reasonable time, and frame standards by which the size of the public buildings shall as far as practicable be determined." In the spring of 1914 the commission presented to congress a report signed by a majority of the four members, dissented to in minor details by one other member, and accompanied by a letter from the attorney general stating that he had been unable to study the subject sufficiently to enable him to arrive at a fixed conclusion. The postmaster general dissented entirely from the views of the majority of the commission.

Wants Factory Type Buildings. The post office department maintains that it is a waste of public funds to erect buildings of a monumental type, and advises the construction of buildings of the factory type where a maximum space with adequate light and ventilation can be secured at a minimum cost. The effect of that policy, the post office department maintains, would be to subserve the material interest of the government and to make possible orderly procedure under a logical program. It is also the view of the post office department that to build a public building for post office purposes only is not warranted unless the rental paid for government offices is as much as $1,000 a year, and then only when the gross post office receipts amount to $15,000 or the population is as much as 5,000.

In pleading for a public building bill at this session of congress the post office department is pointing out that the parcel post was established only two months prior to the enactment of the last public building bill in 1913, and that that branch of the service has had such a remarkable growth that provision must be made for the handling of the business. The space situation, according to the department, is especially acute in the larger cities where the increase in the volume of mail handled is far in advance of the volume increase for the entire country. In many of the larger cities the department has found it impossible to secure adequate space for handling the mail. It is also pointed out by the department that the rentals it has been compelled to pay are excessive. Existing law authorized the postmaster general to enter into leases for post office quarters for a period not exceeding ten years. In many of the smaller cities it has been found impossible to secure adequate space properly arranged, in buildings already erected, on a ten-year basis. The post office department is urging that it be authorized to enter into leases for a term not exceeding 20 years.

"Cakes and Beer, and Washing Here"

Before a ramshackle house in a little New England village there used to hang this sign:

"Hiram, the widow's son, I hope
"Can furnish customers with soap,
"Such as will make the washing day
"Pass off as pleasant, e'en as May.
"Cakes, and beer, and washing here."

Hiram had the right idea. He knew that there were people who wanted what he had to sell. The difference between Hiram and the modern advertiser is that the former had to trust to somebody passing to see his sign. He could not bring his sign to everybody.

The modern advertiser with something to sell that he feels you want, saves you the trouble of going to his place to see about it. Readers of advertisements visit all the advertisers at a single sitting.

This is a service that those who advertise are rendering you, just as the clerks they hire, the deliveries they make, are service. They are saving your time, energy and money by bringing their establishments to you through the advertisements.

Read the advertisements with this thought in mind.

CITY'S LURE STILL STRONG

Movement From Rural Districts Declared to Be Menace to Welfare of the Race.

Every city in the United States is decrying a shortage of residences. In fact, the cities of Europe, like the cities of America, are suffering from a house famine. There simply isn't shelter in the cities for the great numbers of people crowding into them.

These people do not come from the skies. They have not been born and grown to manhood and womanhood over night. They were in the world yesterday, somewhere. Today they are crowding into the cities. That they are coming from the farms there isn't the shadow of a doubt. And thereby hangs the most terrible menace the race has faced for centuries, declares the Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

Not only are cities becoming overcrowded, but in the small towns it is the same. The farmers are giving up their places on the farms and going to the cities and towns and villages. The chances are next year's census will show a tremendous decrease in the rural population of this country; it is bound to do so, for there are more people leaving the farms than are taking their places on the farms—and it isn't necessary to explain the reason. High wages in the cities, the world's war, the unrest, the uncertainty of everything—these things are operating to bring about a condition of affairs that is going to cause the world a tremendous amount of trouble.

We hear a great deal about improved conditions upon the farm. The telephone, rural free delivery, good roads, the automobile, improved machinery and labor saving devices—these things all go to make life upon the farm more attractive. High prices for produce go to make farming more profitable. Yet in the face of all of this the people are leaving the farms and coming to the cities in such numbers that shelter cannot be provided rapidly enough to keep the rain off their backs. In the final day of reckoning—well, we have no desire to indulge in pessimism. But who is going to raise the food for the people of the world if the exodus from the farms continues?

She Needed Them. Another subway story! Lawsee, the fat woman, is full of them—so is New York. This one has to do with another fat woman. She was so fat that she palpitated while she stood hanging on for grim death to the strap above her head. Her short, stubby arm was tired; so was the rest of her.

A wee bit of a kid, about ten, we judge him to be, looked up and saw his training had evidently been of the right sort. Jumping to his feet, he doffed his cap and proffered his seat to the fat woman. A girl of perhaps eight became indignant at once. "Roberta," she said in her severest tone of voice, "what do you mean by offering the lady one seat? She cannot sit in it." Then turning to the woman, she said in all seriousness: "Madam, you can have my seat, too; then you will be able to sit down."

The fat lady stood the smiles of the passengers until the next stop was reached. Then she made herself conspicuous by her absence.—New York Times.

Found Ancient Texas Fort.

The fort built in Texas by the lost colony of the explorer, La Salle, was not located on the La Vaca river, as has been commonly believed, but was further west on the Garcia river. Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, history professor at the University of California, announced recently.

Doctor Bolton, while doing research work, found a map which confirmed a theory he had developed that the colony was not located on the La Vaca. He went to the spot indicated and found the remains of the old fort. It was 90 feet square with walls 2½ feet thick of red adobe bricks. The ruins were almost completely buried.
